3	Germany	The Early Contractor Involvement phase of the Hydrogen Jobs Plan project is critical to the delivery of the project as it enables detailed project and engineering design to occur, as well procurement of critical equipment, finalisation contracting arrangements and cost estimations. Through this period, it is necessary for OHPSA to provide technical input into project engineering and design work. This trip to Germany provided OHPSA with the opportunity to provide direct input into deliverables reviews and workshops in relation to hydrogen production and storage. OHPSA attendees were also able to participate in deliverable reviews and Hazards Identification (HAZID) review. This trip included one OHPSA staff member and 2 GPA engineering team members.	$17,843.00
